

NOTES AND NEWS

Redeemer Renaissance After-School Program

Friday, April 23rd, 2010

Week In Review

For much of the week the children of Redeemer Renaissance were able to enjoy the beautiful weather outside.

On our one rainy day the children played a "Who Am I?" game.

We celebrated Earth Day on Thursday with a puppet show presented by Kathleen Jacobs and her puppets made of recycled materials.

On Friday the children planted impatiens along the side of the church for their May community service project.

McLean Day

Redeemer Renaissance will be at the After-School Childcare Coalition Table for McLean Day. If any of you would like to volunteer to staff that table that day, speak with Roberta.

More Community Service Projects

In advance of our recognition Sunday on May 23rd, the children of Redeemer Renaissance will be making cookies for a "Cookies for Kids." Bake Sale. The Bake Sale will be held between services on May 23rd. "

"Cookies for Kids" is a program that supports pediatric cancer research.

There was $3000 left in the Redeemer Renaissance program account at the end of the 2008-2009 school year. The Church Council of Lutheran Church of the Redeemer has approved sending that money to UNICEF and Lutheran World Relief to bring aid to children who were victims of earthquakes, particularly in Haiti.
